

Write. Now.

Sit down and do this.

Take your four sentences from yesterday. Choose one.

Think of a character who would say this sentence.

Give them a name, an age, and three physical characteristics.

Give them a job, a hobby, a secret and a pet peeve.

Give them a reason why they are talking about legless landfish.

Take your chosen sentence. Re-write it. Now it's the first line in a monologue. Write what happens next, keeping in mind that you're not writing in your voice, but the voice of this character you've just created. Who are they talking to? How do they talk? Remember too the monologue form.

You wrote today. Well done.