

Write. Now.

Sit down and do this.

Describe your bedroom using the five senses. Be specific with your description and use all five senses: Sight, Touch, Smell, Sound, Taste. And remember you're a writer so taste can be abstract. Dust has a taste. Smells can make you taste things. Memories have a taste. Perfume has a taste.

Now every time you write something do this exercise for your main characters.

You wrote today. Well done.